ANGELINA'S CRUSADE!

Angelina Jolie (left) is taking aim at the barbaric fiends who use sexual assault as a weapon of terror

Mom of 6 declares war on ISIS fanatics WHO RAPE KIDS

CARING mom Angelina Jolie is on a mission to stop the barbaric fiends of ISIS from raping children!

"Let us be clear what we are speaking of," says the gutsy beauty. "Young girls their mothers and sisters; toddlers and even babies dragged from their homes and violated."

In a stirring speech to the United Nation's Security Council, the U.N. Special Envoy for Refugees blasted ISIS and demanded that the council make ending rape in conflict "a priority."

Mother-of-six Angie warned, "If you do not, this horror will continue."

Shortly after the Salt star spoke, the council passed a legally-binding resolution to stop sexual violence in armed conflict.

Angelina, 40, also brought her crusade to the British Parliament, declaring that the Islamic State fanatics use rape as "the center point of their terror...and is their way of attacking and dehumanizing."

Notes a showbiz insider, "Say what you want about Angelina, it takes a lot of guts to go after ISIS. But that's just the type of person she is. She casts all care to the wind when she believes in something strongly."

THE Force must be with Carrie Fisher – because something has managed to make the Star Wars icon look young and fresh as ever!

But skeptics are speculating Princess Leia's new look may have more to do with a plastic surgeon's knife than anything she may have learned from the Jedi masters.

The 58-year-old actress herself has joked that her character will be "elderly" and "slower than before" in the upcoming Star Wars Episode VII: The Force Awakens.

Even so, a Hollywood insider believes Fisher is determined to turn back time as she gears

"The first Star Wars film opened when Carrie was just 20 years old, so she'll be competing with a much younger version of herself," says the insider. "She may not be able to erase 38 years of living from her Fisher was spotted covering up her mug in London on Aug. 30. And on Sept. 3, she suddenly looked years younger.

"Carrie looks great," says the insider. "Who can blame her if she opted for a cosmetic surgery tune-up?"

legends Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher has struggled with bipolar disorder and cocaine addiction – and even survived an overdose. But she's bounced back and is reprising her role as Leia in the newest Star Wars flick opposite Harrison Ford's Han Solo and Mark Hamill's Luke Skywalker.

"All eyes are going to be on her at the premiere of the film," says the insider. "Any woman would want to look her best."

ANNA NICOLE BOMBSH

Anna Nicole Smith was just 39 when she was found dead in 2007. Below, her body is taken to the Medical Examiner's Office from the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino in Hollywood, Fla. Right, Anna with son Daniel TRAGIC pinup Anna Nicole Smith didn't die from an "accidental drug overdose" – she was MURDERED – and the crime has been covered up by terrorizing the key witness.

In a shattering world-first exclusive, Anna's close friend Jackie Hatten drops the bombshell that the 39-year-old Playboy Playmate of the Year DIDN'T die by accident when she was found lifeless in her suite at Hollywood, Florida's Hard Rock Hotel & Casino on February 8, 2007.

She believes along with confidential informants that Anna was forced to take a lethal overdose.

The 42-year-old Hatten also insists that the evil surrounding the deaths of Anna and her son Daniel, who also died of a drug overdose, goes so deep that her own boyfriend was paid for seven years to stalk her and then beat her up to keep her from ratting out the killer.

And Hatten charges that the vicious beating she recently suffered at the hands of her boyfriend was part of a massive cover-up to keep her from telling what she knows and pointing the finger at the blonde beauty's killer.

"I'm convinced I know who it is, and he's been paying off my boyfriend to keep me from talking!" says Hatten.

Terrified by the beating, she fears contacting police and has gone into hiding.

Hatten says she was 18 when she and Anna became "best friends" around 1991. She also introduced Anna to her brother, Mark Feters, who later had a steamy two-year romance with the model that ended in 2002.

About a year before Anna's 2007 death, the Guess? jeans model "confided in Jackie that there were certain individuals trying to kill her and get their hands on the multimillion-dollar fortune she had coming to her from the estate of her late husband, J. Howard Marshall," says a source.

Anna, then 29, had wed the 89-year-old Texas oil tycoon in 1994. He died 14 months later and Anna became tangled in a court battle with his son Pierce over a $1.6 billion fortune.

"Anna identified the people who wanted her dead and told Jackie, 'If I die of an overdose – it won't be an accident!'" says the source.

A few months later in September 2006, Anna's son, Danny, died suddenly from a lethal dose of drugs at age 20 in the Bahamas, where the pinup had just given birth to daughter Dannielynn.

Hatten says she became suspicious because "Danny was not an alcoholic and not a druggie."

She says she flew down to the Bahamas, but was blocked from seeing Anna by her bodyguard.

"I knew she was next," says Hatten.

So when Anna collapsed and died just five months later, "Jackie became terrified and believed her life would be in danger if she ever talked," the source reveals.

But this year, Hatten broke her silence because she feels Dannielynn, now 9, deserves to know that her mom didn't die a drug junkie.

"Jackie blurted out to a journalist that she believed Anna was murdered and hinted at

Jackie Hatten's face following the horrific beating she got from her beau on Aug. 17. She says the attack was to shut her up. Right, Jackie and 'best friend' Anna Nicole Smith who killed her and why," says the source.

REVEALED! What she knows and why she's living in fear

Then, on Aug. 17, Hatten says her beau suddenly flew into a rage and began punching her in the face while she was driving on an L.A. freeway.

"My eyes were completely swollen," she says. "I was bleeding like crazy and I could barely see...so I pulled off the freeway. He thought I was on the phone with the police and ran away."

Convinced Anna's killer is behind the beating, Hatten says she was afraid to go to police.

"My boyfriend has told me multiple times that he was stalking me for three years prior to our four-year relationship," she says. "He's also said that someone who Anna knew very well wants to bring me down, and pays him to watch me."

Her brother Fetters, 53, is convinced Anna and her son were murdered in cold blood, and the attack on his sister is not a coincidence.

And Anna's half-sisters Amy Chapman and Donna Hogan are pleading with cops to reopen the case.

Says the source, "Jackie believes she is being frightened into silence.

"Why hasn't she been eliminated? If she was killed, she believes the whole Anna Nicole case would blow wide open."

The Duchess of Cornwall is on her way out

QUEEN BANISHES CAMILLA!

DYING Queen Elizabeth, who just became Britain's longest-reigning Monarch, is wasting no time exiling Camilla from the Palace.

"The Queen wants Charles to divorce his meddlesome wife so she can be severed from the Royal Family completely," a Palace source tells GLOBE.

"She's willing to pay big bucks to put into motion a plan she drew up last year – and told her son he has to relinquish his claim to the Throne so she can make William and his wife Kate the next King and Queen."

As GLOBE has reported, Her Majesty has long planned to pass the Crown to her grandson, William, because she sees him as the best choice to ensure the future of the monarchy.

And that decision has only been bolstered by a recent poll revealing only 25 percent of the Queen's subjects want her 66-year-old son, Charles, to reign. But a whopping 53 percent of Britons are clamoring for William and Kate to be the next rulers!

Queen Elizabeth and husband Prince Philip attend an event to mark her long reign

"That's one hell of a blow to Charles," says an insider. "He's always thought the people adored him – that's how out of touch he is. The people think he's poison – especially after the revelations linking him to his ex-wife Diana's death.

"But now even Charles can see the writing on the wall, which is why he agreed with his mother – and to her plan for getting rid of his second wife."

Island mansion

In a world exclusive, GLOBE learned the 89-year-old Queen is pledging $50 million of her personal cash and a $10 million property as a divorce settlement for conniving Camilla.

She ordered her aides to find 68-year-old Camilla an island mansion in the Caribbean – 4,000 miles away from London!

"Elizabeth wants to be rid of Camilla so badly, that she's willing to dig deep into her pocket – but there's no way she'll fork over the $400 million Camilla was demanding," says the insider.

Prince Charles has agreed to divorce Camilla and relinquish the Throne

Reluctant William accepts Crown after British polls said CHARLES IS UNFIT TO BE KING

Prince William and Kate are the most popular royals and ready to take over

"She knows the Duchess of Cornwall will take it despite the woman's threats to bring down the family by revealing their secrets. That's all a big bluff because she's got enough of her own skeletons in her closet.

"Charles is secretly conflicted by the arrangement. He can't live with Camilla, but he can't live without her! His marriage has been a sham for years, but she has an evil vice-like control over him."

Meanwhile, reluctant William, 33, agreed to succeed his grandmother after celebrating her milestone at Elizabeth's Scottish retreat, Balmoral.

"Kate, William and their children, George and Charlotte, were the only family members present with Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip," the source says.

"The Queen used the occasion to impress upon William how important it is that he takes over the reins, and in light of the polls, he agreed. The Prince understands that he's the right person to steer the family in these modern times."

But Camilla was furious when she heard what was going on – and smarting over being snubbed on Queen Elizabeth's big day marking 63 years, 7 months and three days on the Throne, surpassing Queen Victoria, who ruled the British Empire in the 19th Century.

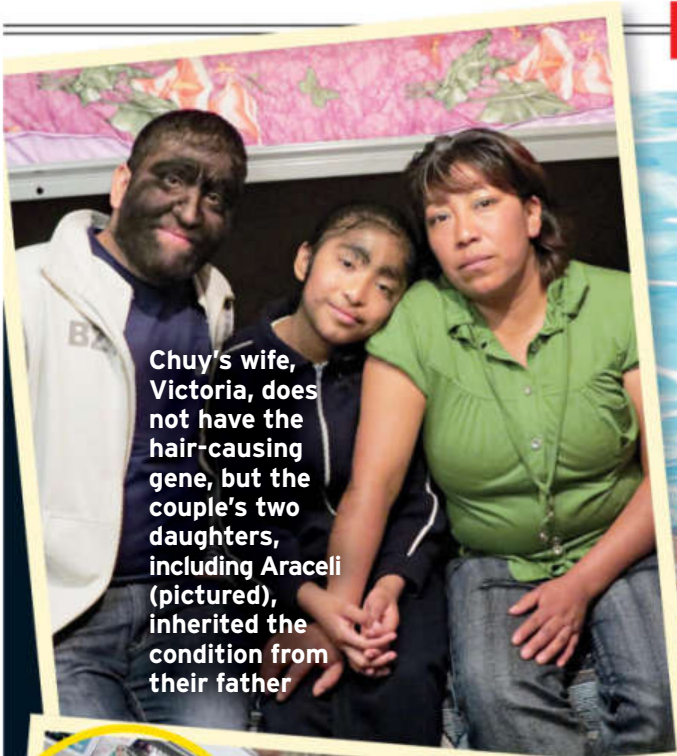

Says the insider, "Camilla had yet another furious showdown with Charles, calling him a spineless wimp for not standing up for his birthright – then stormed out.

"The next thing you know, she's spotted partying it up on a yacht off the coast of the island of Ibiza in the Mediterranean.

"No matter what's going on, she always has time to enjoy luxury and drinks with her cronies. And now she'll have plenty more time on her hands."

Renowned “Gut” Doctor Declares...

“People over age 50 need a special strain of probiotic to relieve their gas, bloating, constipation and other troubling ‘bathroom issues’ once and for all.”

Because a 50-year-old's digestive issues are not the same as a 30- or 40-year-old's, Dr. David Williams created a very powerful and specific probiotic to help people 50+ get their gut in check, and put digestive discomfort to rest.

Like anything else, when it comes to probiotics for restoring digestive balance, there are good products, and bad ones.

But very few, if any, probiotics were created by a renowned gut doctor for a specific age group, like a new probiotic product that's now available to the general public.

Probiotics are 100% vital for good digestive health

Probiotics can benefit the digestive health of anyone who Probiotic Advantage Beadlet uses a patented “seamless” encapsulation technology that delivers a shelf-stable probiotic enclosed within a tiny, triple-layered, pearl-like beadlet. The live bacteria powder is surrounded by a layer of vegetable oil, and then coated with an acid-resistant shell made of gelatin and pectin. This special layering protects the bacteria from stomach acid and ensures delivery to the intestinal tract where they colonize the gut for better health.

takes them by improving delicate intestinal balance.

This bacterial balance is an important part of a normal, healthy intestinal tract, as well as for maintaining overall health and well-being.

However, as we age, the composition and population of these bacteria changes. The friendly bacteria we need decrease, and puts that delicate balance out of whack.

This unhealthy change has become a common problem today that causes many people over age 50 to suffer from mild to severe embarrassing gastrointestinal issues.

These issues can significantly limit quality of life and activities away from a bathroom

So with a strong need for a special formula for those adults 50+, Dr. David Williams created fast-acting Probiotic Advantage Beadlet.

This unique formula not only guarantees delivery of the probiotics to the intestines, but also helps adults 50+ by providing over 2 billion beneficial, live bacteria in 6 strains, with over 65% comprised of friendly Bifidobacteria, the strain that tends to decrease as adults grow older.

The gleaming little beadlets full of gut-health-restoring bacteria have proven to be a true innovation to guarantee potency, and deliver billions of specially researched bacteria to the intestines—3 Lactobacillus strains target the small intestine and 3 Bifidobacteria strains target the large intestine.

“After just two days I noticed a great change in my bowel movements. I was constipated a lot. I feel better all over. I highly recommend this for anyone.”

— Thaddeus H., PA

“I’m no longer sensitive to certain foods and my system is much stronger and resistant to outside influences. I eat what I like without suffering discomfort or embarrassment later!”

— Diane A., FL

These 6 strains together have shown to help:

- Alleviate diarrhea, especially when traveling
- Reduce gas, bloating and other digestive distress
- Soften stools without gas or bloating
- Maintain the small intestinal lining
- Promote nutrient absorption and use

- Support immune health
- Improve lactose digestion and utilization
- Neutralize toxic by-products of digestion
- Promote optimal pH of the GI tract to balance delicate flora
- Break down undigested food in the intestines
- Promote regular bowel movements
- Rebalance intestinal flora after using antibiotics

People who take Probiotic Advantage Beadlet each day can see quick results, in as little as one week.

And once the digestive system is working smoothly again, these results—and relief—are long-lasting. People will be able to eat what they want without worry or concern.

But his heart was already broken when his desperate search for a lifesaving bone marrow transplant for his daughter, Amy, came up short. By the time he finally found a match, it was too late.

Chemotherapy

Amy, who appeared in an episode of Adam-12, was diagnosed with acute myeloid leukemia in February 2003. The following year, after debilitating chemotherapy and blood transfusions failed to put the cancer into remission, Milner launched a frantic search for a transplant donor.

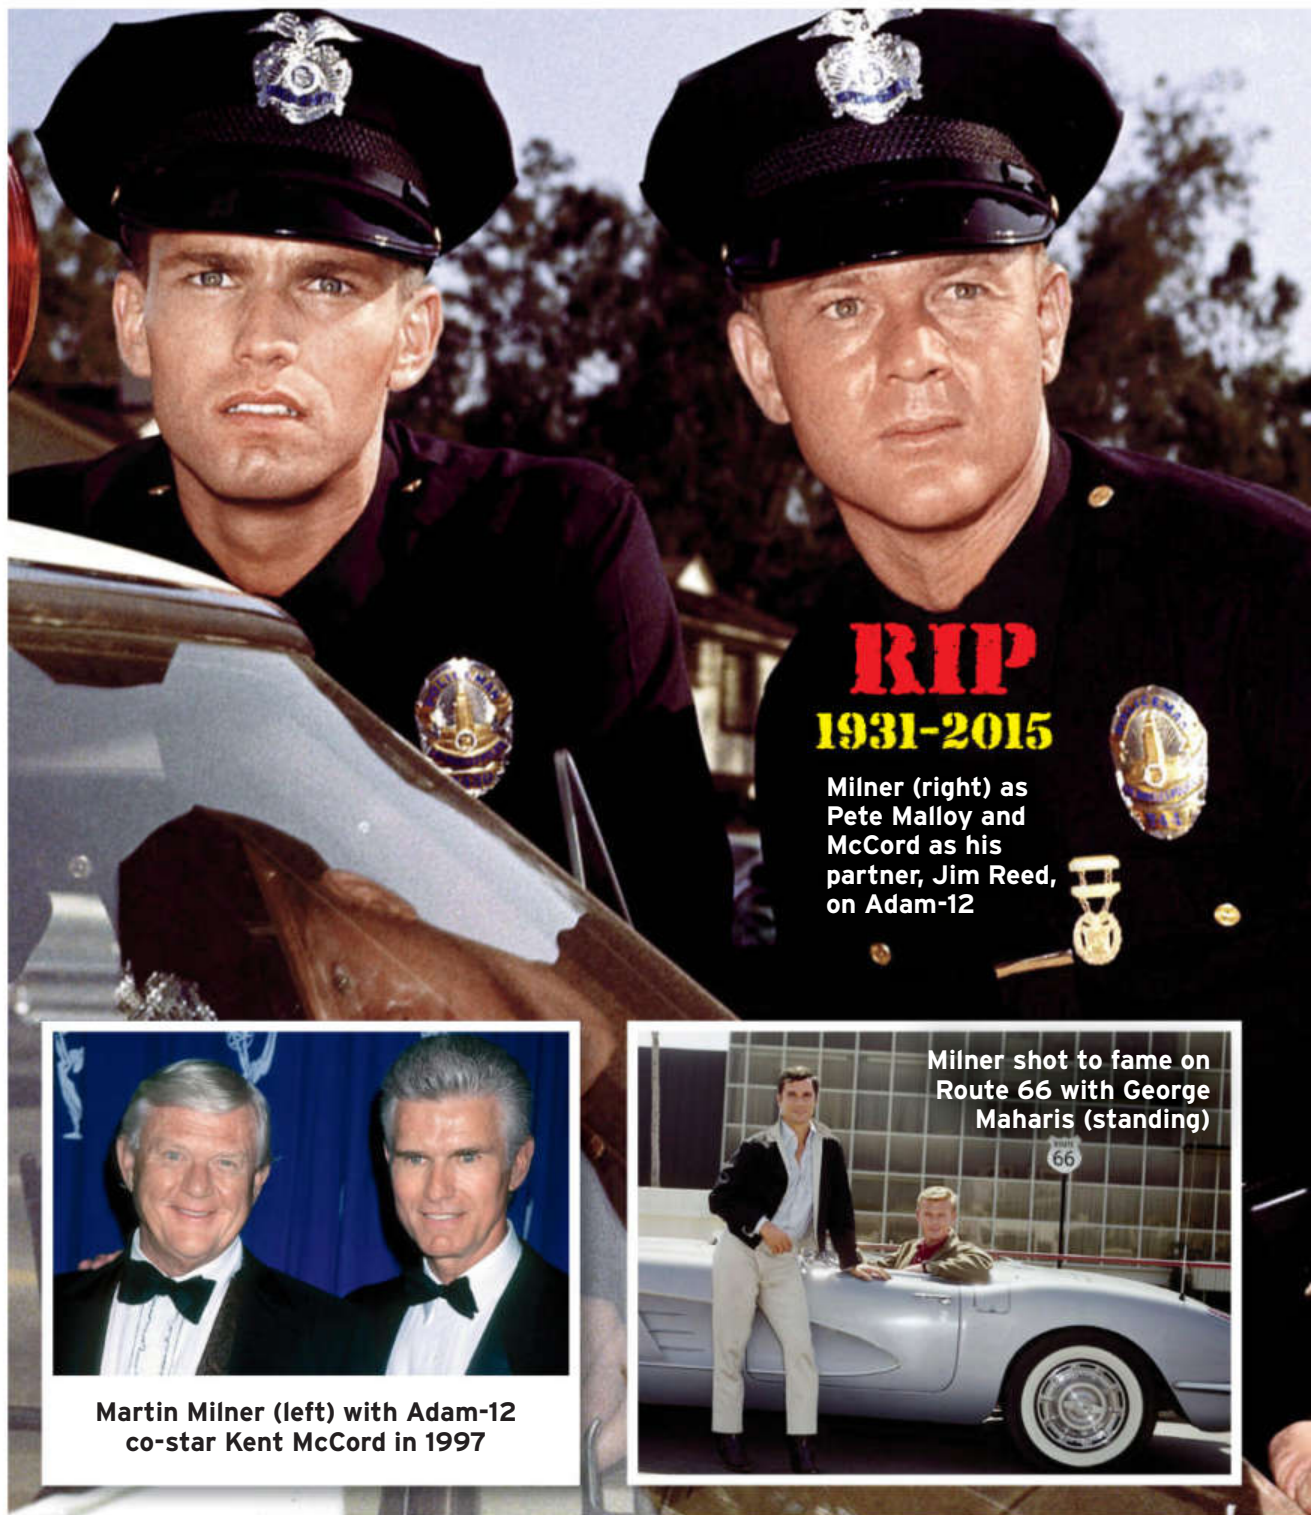

He begged fans - and GLOBE readers - to "donate blood and get yourself on the bone marrow registry.

"Even if you can't save my daughter's life, there are thousands of people waiting for matching donors and you could save someone else."

Milner, who played friendly police officer Pete Malloy on the NBC classic Adam-12 from 1968 to 1975, also got support from cops who'd grown up watching the show.

Incredibly, not one but two matches were found. Sadly, Amy, the single mom of a then 11-year-old son, was already too sick. She died in December 2004 at age 46.

He spent 11 years playing barkeep Sam Malone on Cheers, six as Dr. John Becker on Becker - and just wrapped his fourth season as forensics supervisor D.B. 1. Born in San Diego, his archeologist dad, Edward, and mom, Jessica, raised him on a Navajo reservation in Arizona.

2. He grew up without TV at home. "My mother read Greek tragedies to me when I was 4," he says.

4. His guiltiest pleasure is watching The Biggest Loser.

5. He abandoned stage acting for TV ads as the Aramis Man after graduating Carnegie Mellon University in 1968.

6. He's the "king of the faux pas" - calling people by the wrong name and congratulating women who are not pregnant!

7. He finds it easier to do drama than comedy. "You can show up drunk, divorced and depressed and the camera will like it anyway," he says.

8. His greatest disappointment was not being able to play college basketball "due to lack of talent."

RYAN'S WARTHOG SEX WITH BIANCA!

RYAN O'NEAL's wild sex romp with Bianca Jagger - in the home she shared with then-hubby Mick of The Rolling Stones - was no Love Story!

Instead, says a witness, their bedroom antics looked more like something you might see in National Geographic!

Dr. Strangelove screenwriter Terry Southern walked in on the couple while he and Ryan were houseguests at the Jagers' home in 1973. He described the scene vividly in a letter to film legend Stanley Kubrick.

"Unless I am very much mistaken," Southern wrote, Ryan and Bianca were getting it on "in a most forceful manner."

Southern then added: "I would be less than candid if I failed to mention how I walked into the room one afternoon and found them going at it like a pair of maddened warthogs."

FED-UP WORKER KILL

VENGEFUL driver Julian Ospina-Florez shot and killed his nightmare boss Debra Rivera AND her husband as bloody payback for the nasty way she talked to him and other employees.

Before jurors convicted Julian Ospina-Florez for murdering Debra and her doctor hubby, Hector Rivera, Tampa, Fla., prosecutors conceded she was a vicious, sharp-tongued Boss from Hell whose favorite target was Ospina-Florez.

Even so, prosecutors asked for the 35-year-old to get the death penalty – since he deliberated tried to cover up his role in the bloodbath by staging the crime scene to look like a home invasion.

Cops learned of the vicious slayings on Jan. 9, 2012, when a weeping Ospina-Florez called 911 from the couple's mansion. He claimed his boss and the doctor were killed by intruders who overpowered him and tied him up. He begged the dispatcher to “get somebody here fast. They killed my boss! I was working...they catch me. They tie me.”

When police arrived, they found 76-year-old Hector lying dead in a pool of blood on the driveway, riddled by four bullets. The retired osteopath was shot in the back, head, chest and arm.

They also found Ospina-Florez with a zip tie around one of his wrists.

And in one of the six bedrooms of the swanky, $1.1 million, 11,000-square-foot home, they found 55-year-old Debra's body lying face down. She had been shot twice in the face.

But cops smelled a rat almost immediately.

“His story was not plausible,” says Hillsborough County Sheriff David Gee. “We fixed on him as the suspect the first night.”

VICTIMS

Abusive boss Debra Rivera and her husband, Dr. Hector Rivera, were coldheartedly gunned down

LOSING CAUSE

Defense attorney Charles Traina couldn't keep the jury from convicting Ospina-Florez in the double murder

Investigators found no sign of a break-in at the home in the exclusive, heavily-guarded gated community surrounded by eight-foot stone walls.

And Ospina-Florez couldn't describe the attackers.

Although he claimed he'd been beaten, he showed no bruises or signs of injuries.

And the zip ties that supposedly bound him were far too loose.

But his fate was ultimately sealed by the damning crime scene.

Cops found a sickening trail of bloody footprints leading away from Hector's body. When Ospina-Florez removed his shoes, they found his socks drenched with gore.

They also found the 9mm Luger murder weapon hidden under a ping-pong paddle in a kitchen drawer at the home. Later, police discovered he'd bought the gun and the bullets found in the victims' bodies.

Prosecutors say Ospina-Florez and Debra had just returned from a trade show in her Cadillac Escalade when he shot her dead. Then, he ambushed her husband when he returned to the home with take-out food.

S BOSS FROM HELL!

Shooter faked home invasion to cover up HIS BLOODY TRAIL

Cops found plenty of damning evidence at the Riveras' 11,000-square-foot mansion in Tampa, Fla.

The coward shot Hector through a glass door and chased him down the driveway where he mercilessly blasted him three more times.

The disgruntled employee had worked eight months for Debra, who ran a knockoff jewelry and accessories business called Distinctive Creations from her home.

Just days before the slayings, she accused the Colombian native, who is a naturalized U.S.

citizen, and other employees of stealing $30,000 of her merchandise.

Later, lawmen found missing merchandise worth thousands of dollars at Ospina-Florez's townhouse and other evidence linking him to the bloodbath.

But what really set him off was the way his boss spoke to him.

A prosecutor noted the killer fired one shot "through the mouth that demeaned and belittled and chastised him."

CAGED KILLER

Prosecutors are seeking the death penalty for Julian Ospina-Florez, whose half-baked plot quickly unraveled

A BRUTAL glass shop worker who strangled and beat a frail great-granny to death is going to die in prison – after DNA tests on a dropped glove tied him to the 16-year-old crime scene.

Prosecutors say Nosakhare Onumonu may never have been caught if it weren't for the damning evidence found after the March 1999 slaughter of 84-year-old Helen Klocek.

Thanks to technological advances, forensic experts matched the glove to the twisted killer just as the four-time convicted felon was about to be released from prison for another offense.

Klocek was last seen alive leaving a Plymouth Township, Mich., diner on her way to her apartment. Her body was discovered in an alley behind a church on Detroit's west side.

The 4-foot-5 victim had a broken right collarbone, broken sternum, nine broken ribs and defensive wounds on her hands and arms when her corpse was found.

The murderer stole her 1999 Ford Escort, only to abandon and torch the vehicle three miles away. Police discovered a partially burned tell-tale blue and gray Kevlar glove in the vehicle – and figured it belonged to the killer. But they couldn't trace the creep until DNA forensics improved.

At Onumonu's recent trial, family members thanked cops for finally solving the murder as the evil convicted killer was hauled away to begin his life sentence without the possibility of parole.

At a hearing in a Detroit court, the victim's daughter, Barbara, confronted the beast saying, "You could have let her go. Instead, you severely beat and strangled her until she died and dumped her body in an alley. No one deserves that."

At sentencing, the brute whined that he was being framed for the shocking crime. But the victim's daughter was unmoved, telling him, "You are a monster."

Later, Barbara said, "Our grief is still ongoing. Life is not, and never will be, the same."

CALLING Dr. Butz! Calling Dr. Seymour Butz! We need your help! Another highly-paid and over-rated Hollywood celeb needs his head surgically removed from his own ass.

Dr. Butz has to be raking in the dough because more and more Tinseltown loonies seem to be getting their heads stuck where the sun don't shine.

The latest is not-so-funnyman Damon Wayans, who became known for stereotyping and mocking gays on TV's In Living Color.

Now, he's trashing the dozens of women who are accusing creepy Bill Cosby of drugging and raping them by calling these victims "bitches."

Hey, Wayans, you mental misfit, what could you possibly be thinking?

And then he made matters even worse by adding: "And some of them, really, are unrapeable."

Something is just not right with this man.

If you ask me, Dr. Butz has his work cut out for him with Wayans. His head is so far up there, it may be impossible to remove it.

And I've seen Wayans' face... come to think of it, Dr. Butz may be doing us all a public service if it stays where it is.

Jane Fonda

Wayans' comments, have rightfully provoked outrage - even from Jane Fonda, who in the past could have used Dr. Butz's help more than a few times herself.

"That's so bad. That's bad," Fonda says of Dumbass Damon's comments. "Cosby should be behind bars."

Could be the one and only time Fonda and I agree.

Fellow homeless co-star Ben Vereen chats with down-and-out Gere

The actor makes off with some goodies

FROM HUNK TO

Richard Gere's lesson in life on Manhattan's mean streets

HE'S been a Hollywood star for more than four decades, but Richard Gere's latest role left him out in the cold on the mean streets of New York.

Sporting a knit cap and scruffy beard for his role as a homeless man in the new film Time Out of Mind, the 66-year-old actor shook a cup and asked passersby for spare change.

Incredibly, instead of fans mobbing the Chicago star to pose for photos or ask for an autograph, most folks avoided him completely!

Writer-director Oren Moverman was stunned Gere went unrecognized, saying "nobody would look at him" because of his shabby appearance.

"The guy I was on the street corner is the same guy who's in a tuxedo on the red carpet," says Gere, "but I wasn't being seen because of the way we project things on people."

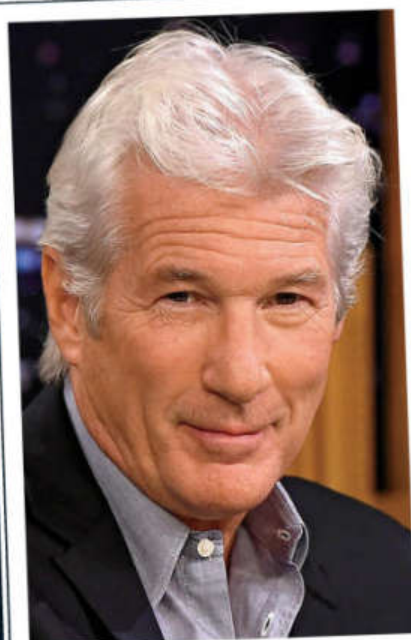

The actor adds that treating people as if they're invisible can make them "deteriorate quickly," sending them into a "black hole of failure" from which they might not recover.

A longtime champion of humanitarian causes, Gere has made homeless issues a top priority. He's quick to point out how quickly life can change - no matter who you are.

"All of us are just a hair's breadth away from falling apart," he says. "The distance is not as dramatic as it appears to be."

"We all could be there."

STROKE WARNING SIGNS YOU NEED TO KNOW

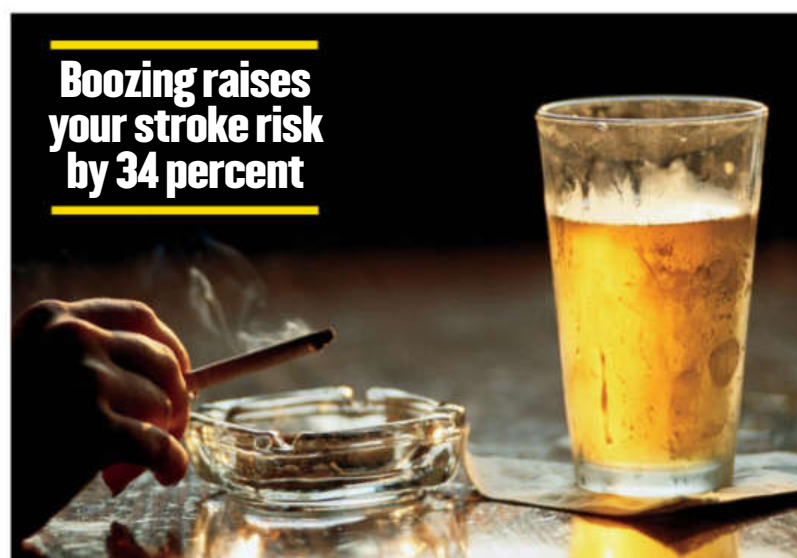

STROKES are the fourth leading cause of death in the U.S. – and 60 percent of the fatalities are women. But knowing the danger signals can reduce your risk.

Here are six warning signs you need to know:

1 High blood pressure. Dr. Gabe Mirkin, author of The Healthy Heart Miracle, says this is the greatest risk factor. Check your blood pressure regularly, eat lots of fruits and vegetables, and take all prescribed medications faithfully.

2 Diabetes. High blood sugar damages blood vessels, leading to a higher stroke risk. Manage your disease with a combination of healthy lifestyle and medication.

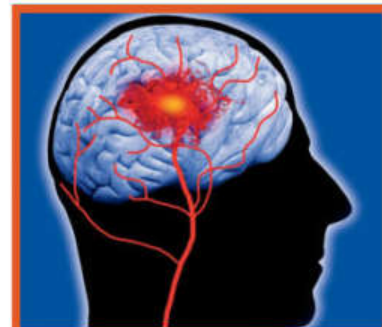

3 Smoking. This bad habit damages blood vessels and encourages the formation of clots. It also raises blood pressure and triglycerides, and lowers “good” cholesterol. Even secondhand smoke increases stroke risk by 30 percent.

4 Alcohol. New data shows even two drinks daily can cause cardiovascular damage.

Heavy boozing raises your stroke risk by 34 percent, and heavy drinkers in their 50s and 60s are likely to have a stroke five years earlier than average, says the National Stroke Association. Women should limit daily intake to one drink. Men should stick to two.

A stroke, also known as a “brain attack,” occurs when blood flow to the organ is cut off

5 Irregular heartbeat. Atrial fibrillation can cause clots that can travel to the brain, says Mirkin. Bring blood pressure down and ask your doctor about blood-thinning medications.

6 Lack of exercise. A sedentary lifestyle increases stroke risk by at least 20 percent, says a University of Alabama study. Get 30 minutes of moderate exercise at least five days a week.

New cancer drugs are ‘spectacular’

+ THERE'S fresh hope for cancer patients. New immunotherapy medicines, which harness a person's immune system to attack cancerous cells, have been achieving “spectacular” results at trials. In one British study of advanced melanoma patients, a combination of the drugs ipilimumab and nivolumab stopped the cancer from spreading for nearly a year in 58 percent of patients. Professor Roy Herbst, chief of oncology at the Yale Cancer Center, says, “The potential for long-term survival, effective cure, is definitely there.”

Dark chocolate is perfect pick-me-up

+ NEED a quick fix for afternoon brain fog? Try dark chocolate! Lucky volunteers at Northern Arizona University performed thinking and memory tests while undergoing EKGs of their brains. Some participants had a few bites of chocolate, while others munched on a placebo. The tests showed the chocolate eaters were more alert. To get the best results from the brain-boosting sweet treat, choose chocolate that contains at least 60 percent cacao beans.

HOW TO TREAT MUSCLE PAIN

Managing
muscle pain can lead to a better quality of life

KNOWING why your muscles ache is the first step in living a pain-free life.

Inflammation is a big culprit, says Dr. Jacob Teitelbaum, the Hawaii-based author of The Fatigue and Fibromyalgia Solution.

Viral infections, statin drugs and autoimmune conditions like rheumatoid arthritis can cause inflammation. Eating a diet rich in fatty fish, whole grains, leafy greens and nuts is effective to reduce swelling.

Vitamin D and iron deficiencies can also cause muscle or bone pain.

Dr. Leslie Matthews, an Atlanta-based expert, recommends 20 minutes of daily sunshine or taking a vitamin D supplement. Choose nuts, beans and spinach to boost iron levels.

After exercising, treat muscle soreness by eating protein and adding Epsom salts to a hot bath.

Massage can reduce the stress response that causes muscles to tense, contributing to inflammation and pain.

Teitelbaum cautions widespread pain associated with insomnia and fatigue can indicate fibromyalgia or other conditions that may require medical treatment.

IN a shocking slap in the face, Rosie O'Donnell's son, Parker, 20, is a keen admirer of mogul Donald Trump – despite his mom's bitter public feud with the Republican presidential frontrunner.

"Parker calls him a very good businessman who's worked extremely hard to get where he is," an insider tells GLOBE.

"He says The Donald would make an excellent president and it wouldn't surprise us if Parker volunteered to help Trump get to the White House."

And this isn't the first time he's gone against his mom. When he was 18, he insisted on attending The Citadel military school in South Carolina, prompting Rosie to say, "How do you annoy your left-wing pacifist mother? Become a big military man."

But his support for Trump comes as the long-running feud reached fever pitch.

Vicious insults

In August, the 69-year-old billionaire blasted the loud-mouth as a "fat pig" during the Republican Presidential Debate!

The bitterness dates back to Rosie slamming Trump in 2006 for giving Miss U.S.A. Tara Conner a second chance after she was caught in a drink-and-drugs scandal.

Both sides hurled vicious insults and at a 2007 luncheon, she outrageously battle with her second wife, Michelle Rounds, over custody of their 2-year-old adopted daughter, Dakota.

On Aug. 11, Rosie's 17-year-old daughter, Chelsea, ran away from home and was found living with a 25-year-old lowlife. Then, just days later, on Aug. 23, Rosie's dad, Edward O'Donnell, 81, died from cancer.

"Parker thinks Rosie pushes the line sometimes," says the source.

Meanwhile, friends fear she's on the verge of an emotional breakdown.

LAUGH-IN's Sock It To Me girl, Judy Carne, died a bitter recluse, still mourning the collapse of her marriage to Burt Reynolds 50 years ago, say friends.

The 76-year-old British-born actress, who died of pneumonia on Sept. 3 at her home in England, was "scarred for life" by the stormy two-year union.

"Life certainly socked it to Judy," the insider says. "She made many mistakes, and one of the biggest was marrying Burt.

"She accused him of beating her and being insanely jealous ...but she never got over Burt."

Outbursts

In her 1985 book, Laughing on the Outside, Crying on the Inside, Judy claimed that Burt – whom she wed in 1963 – constantly accused her of cheating and that his outbursts were sometimes so brutal she played dead so he would stop hitting her. She said the violence escalated when Burt lost his job on Gunsmoke in 1965.

Judy finally decided to end the marriage after suffering a concussion as the result of one of Burt's alleged beatings.

"I was still in love when I filed for divorce, and part of me will love him forever," she wrote.

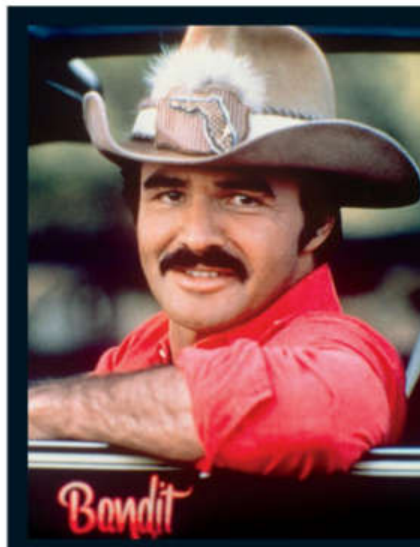

Three years later, Judy got her big break when she landed a spot on Laugh-In. But she quit after just two years, calling the role that made her famous a "bloody bore."

Her career quickly crashed, and "her life began spiraling out of control as she became addicted to drugs, including heroin," the insider says. She was arrested several times, and in 1978, broke her neck in a car wreck.

Judy grew increasingly "bitter" when Burt didn't return her calls after she reached out to him for help in the late '70s, says the insider.

"She said she had supported him when he was out of work and never asked for alimony," the insider adds. "Judy went back to the U.K. and became a virtual recluse."

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

A white lie might spare a friend's feelings about her new partner, but the full moon in Aries says: Speak the truth. Better for your pal to know what your Google search turned up! Demanding the family finishes their chores Sunday will make you unpopular.

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

Money magic is at your fingertips, but hold off on long-term commitments until the sun and Mercury align on Wednesday. Look for ways to earn instead - that idea you keep mulling over is a winner! Single? Someone who stumps for your favorite candidate captures your heart!

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

A close friend asks a complicated favor, but trust your instincts. It's better to say no now than wriggle out later! Jupiter points the way to a chance to start a business with someone whom you admire. Get out and socialize under the weekend's Gemini moon for both luck and love!

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

Mercury keeps your emotions on a rollercoaster...you could use a few days' relaxation to process recent events in your life! Potions and pills aren't your style, but it's wise to follow doctor's orders, Archer. Act quickly when a money-making chance comes along - you won't be asked twice!

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

Unexpected expenses see you cutting costs, slashing non-essentials and clipping coupons to save cash. But there's a fine line between a penny-pincher and a cheapskate! A new acquaintance is a diamond in the rough. With a bit of polishing you could become besties or even lovers.

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

Someone who takes life too seriously is cramping your style. But when the sun parties with Mercury, you'll get a chance to show how much fun life can be, starting with setting aside that to-do list! The weekend brings bargains on clothing and household decor. The number 6 is lucky.

PISCES February 19 - March 20

POPE FRANCIS DYING FROM LUNG DISEASE!

The popular pontiff has been seen struggling for breath and clasp his chest

SHOCKING SECRET
he's hiding from the world

ON the eve of Pope Francis' historic visit to America, GLOBE can reveal that the beloved pontiff is secretly waging a desperate battle against lung disease and fears he doesn't have long to live.

In fact, sources say his doctors were privately begging Francis to call off the grueling five-day visit that was due to begin Sept. 23 and takes him to Washington, D.C., New York and Philadelphia.

But he wasn't listening! "Nothing could dissuade Francis from making his trip to America," declares a Vatican insider.

The 78-year-old pope has a full schedule including a meeting with President Obama and a Papal Mass at the World Meeting of Families in Philadelphia on Sept. 27.

"This schedule would test the stamina of a man half his age," says the insider. "And it will be especially taxing for Francis because he's already a sick man."

Prime candidate

"He only has one lung - part of the other was removed in his youth. He's also a prime candidate for a heart attack or stroke just from being overweight."

Adding to the pope's health problems, he's dealing with a lot of stress as he unleashes one reform after another in the historically slow-to-change Church.

"Despite his bold moves, Francis is a bundle of nerves who spends sleepless nights worrying about the world's problems," says the insider. Meanwhile, ISIS terrorists have threatened to kill him for denouncing their barbaric behavior, and Francis has infuriated the Italian Mafia for ending money laundering through the Vatican bank. Furthermore, his efforts to root out Church corruption and bring pedophile clergymen to justice have enraged rogue priests.

Last year, Francis shockingly admitted he believed he likely had only two years to live. Since then, added pressures on the already-ailing pope are furthering shortening his lifespan.

"The sad secret behind Francis' visit to the U.S. is that he thinks he has only six months to live," says a second Vatican source. "This trip will be his farewell to the American faithful."

ELVIS' PRIVATE NURSE FINALLY TELLS ALL!

ELVIS PRESLEY's private nurse is breaking her silence to reveal The King's tragic final days as he battled obesity, loneliness – and the heartbreak of losing Priscilla, the love of his life.

"I saw the ups and the downs and the happy and sad," Letitia "Tish" Henley Kirk tells GLOBE in an exclusive interview.

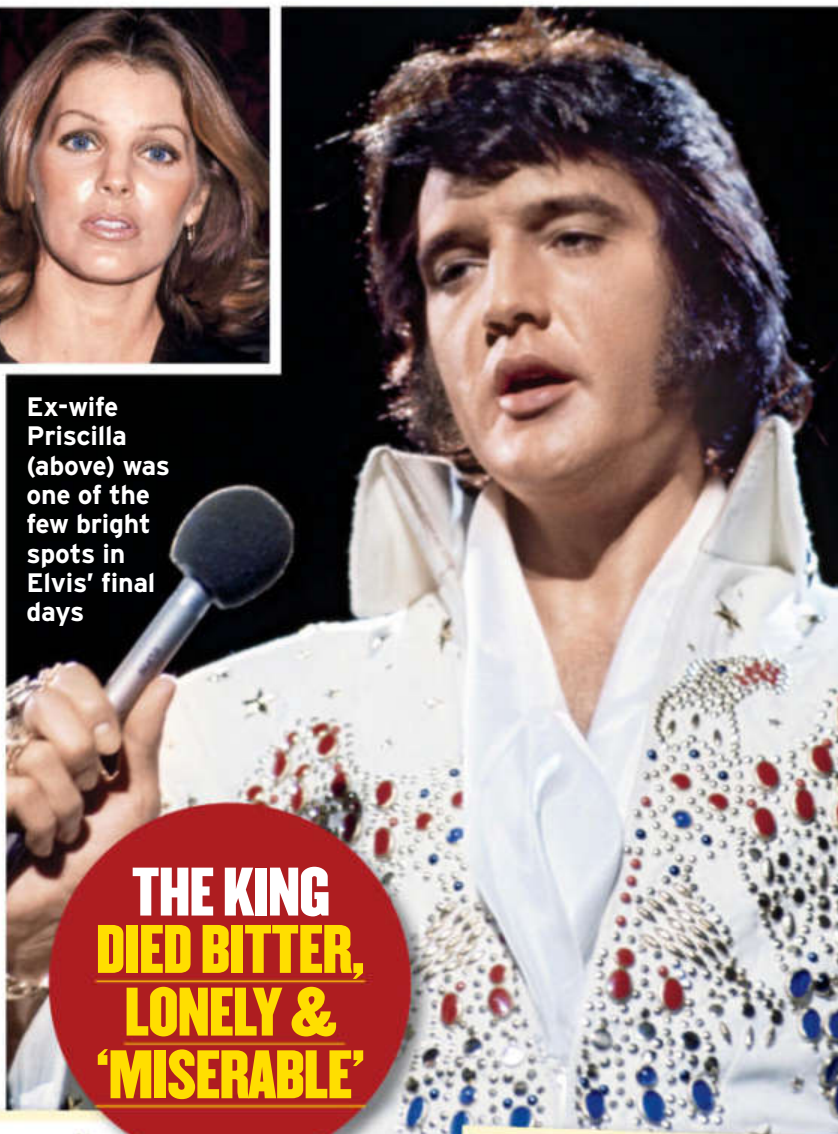

She adds that Elvis was "a very miserable person" in the months before he died on Aug. 16, 1977, at his Memphis mansion. Kirk lived in a trailer with her family on the grounds of Graceland while caring for Presley.

One of the few things that could cheer him up was his ex-wife, Priscilla.

In her new book, Taking Care of Elvis: Memories With Elvis as His Private Nurse and Friend, Letitia, 73, calls Priscilla "a very big piece of the putty that held Elvis together...When Elvis was having a bad day or was down, all he had to do was talk to Priscilla and his spirits were lifted and he became a different person."

But as his relationships with other women crashed and burned, Letitia recalls the superstar lying across the bed crying, "Why in the * can't I find a woman to spend time with me and make me happy?"

And he didn't have any better luck with man's best friend!

Even his dogs turned against him

His red chow, Getlow, was always growling at him and bit the top of his hand. He had to give away a Pomeranian with bad gas because "their personalities didn't mesh at all," writes Letitia. And a dog, named Peanuts, actually peed on Elvis' leg!

Letitia, who met Presley in 1968 while working in a medical clinic with his private physician, Dr. George Nichopolous, reveals the singer was terribly tormented but struggled to live up to his iconic image.

"Here was a man that the world thought had it all," she says, "but even he had things missing in his life."

PROOF KIM K IS AMERICA'S BIGGEST CELEBRITY!

Pregnant Kardashian is proud of her 75LB WEIGHT GAIN

KIM KARDASHIAN is only halfway through her second pregnancy, but she's already packed on a ton of weight!

Pals now suspect the 5-foot-3 reality diva will shatter the 185-pound mark she set while pregnant with her and hubby Kanye West's first kid, North.

"It looks as though she's gained 75 pounds," notes a Hollywood insider. "She's huge and getting bigger all the time, and most of the weight seems to be in one place - if you get my drift."

Another source says that Kim, 34, could be risking more than the kind of ridicule she endured - people called her Shamu - while carrying North.

"She can't stop eating," confides the source. "If she doesn't get it under control, she could endanger her health and that of her unborn child."

The reality diva barely resembles her bikini babe look - she's having a whale of a time during her second pregnancy

Huge Demand for New Cell-Slimming Diet Pill

Frustrated by his patient's weighty health problems, resident diet and health expert; Dr. Seymour Weaver III has single-handedly changed the way people will lose weight forever.

By Senior Staff Reporter, Steve Christo

Local area physician, Dr. Seymour Weaver III has done the impossible. He created a pill that doesn't just help you lose weight. It helps morph even the chronically obese; into skinnier, healthier versions of themselves.

The pill works best on people who don't have the willpower to stick to a diet... Or those who have been dieting for years and never seem to be able to lose weight. That's because you're not forced onto a treadmill or to starve yourself.

Unlike other formulas, Dr. Weaver's pill works on a cellular level... slimming down each individual fat cell by feeding it the proper nutrition it needs to stay healthy. We are seeing thinner waists, leaner torsos and a huge reduction in dangerous health numbers that often plagues patients with weight problems. Both doctors and drug companies are astonished.

"This is a huge leap forward! Without any real effort at all my formulation not only stops you from adding pounds — it actually brings your body back to its own natural, God-given weight" says Weaver.

It all began in February 2011, when Dr. Weaver received some scary results back from the lab about one of his favorite patients. This gentleman, who will for privacy purposes go unnamed; had cholesterol and triglyceride levels that might send others directly to the grave. Explains Weaver, "Of course my first thought was to put my patient on a strict diet. But at this point, there was no time. If I didn't do something quickly; the man could predictably be dead in just a few months". Weaver was left with few options. Gastric bypass was out of the question. It was too dangerous for a man in his condition. Besides, his insurance company would never cover it.

Challenge Accepted!

Never one to step away from a challenge; Dr. Weaver used everything he knows about medicine; and how it interacts with the human body. Weaver is an exceptional doctor and formulator of some of the most impressive natural remedies ever created.

But developing this pill was no easy task. He needed America's top research laboratory to do it. And testing had to be done by trained technicians, in a controlled environment, using only the latest equipment available.

Weaver experimented with thousands of ingredients. Some worked a little, others not at all. Then almost accidentally, he stumbled upon the mother-load... A formula that works synergistically — encouraging a reduction of your fat cells instead of body weight. It's a weight-loss phenomenon some of the highest paid researchers in the world have been chasing for years. Weaver's formulation in effect puts every single fat cell in your body "on a diet". So now, instead of slowly burning away excess fat, your fat cells actually slim down.

A Possible Nobel Prize Winner

It's a totally new approach to weight loss. Considered so revolutionary in fact, there's even talk of a Nobel Prize for science. That's because he was able to identify 14 rare compounds; with odd names like Caralluma, and Lactobacillus Acidophilus. But when fused together, the formula actually forces your body to lose weight at the cellular level. It's never been done before!

How It Works...

Unlike anything ever developed, the pill targets and conditions your fat cells from the point of food digestion — to the point of waste expulsion. The formula works by latching on to each individual fat cell; then force-feeding it with essential nutrients that turn slow-moving fat into usable energy. The result? Dramatic weight loss as each cell shrinks down to its normal size.

Dr. Weaver decided to put his formula to the test. Excitedly, he called his patient to come in for a follow-up visit. He handed the patient a plain white bottle of pills. There was no label on it and no directions other than Weaver's handwritten scrawl that said "take orally, twice a day".

"I can't begin to tell you how grateful I am!"

I dropped 40 pounds the first 40 days of my weight loss journey! I lost 30 more since then and I would like to lose another 80. The products developed by DR. WEAVER are PHENOMENAL! He helped me change my life...I eat a healthy diet, I exercise every day and I use his products. As a matter of fact, I have marked my calendar EVERY DAY THIS YEAR...I HAVE NOT MISSED ONE DAY OF EXERCISE IN 2014! — Mary S., Myrtle Beach, SC

Then something incredible happened....

For the first time the man could remember, he began to lose weight. A lot of weight. Pounds and pounds of pure fat GONE by his very next appointment! Weaver was ecstatic about the results and starts producing his formula in larger quantities.

Unprecedented Demand

Soon, word spread about Dr. Weaver's incredible new pill. Not only did his own patients clamor for it,

"It conditions every cell in your body to shed fat... from the point of food digestion — to the point of waste expulsion. It's the first weight loss remedy that works on the cellular level. There's never been anything like it!"

— Dr. Seymour Weaver III

other doctors' offices begged him for a supply. Local retail stores sold out before they could even get it on the shelves. And even now, he struggles to have enough manufactured to fill the growing demand.

Here's What Early Testers Are Saying:

- "I lost 32 pounds without killing myself in the gym" — Mrs. Mary S., School Teacher
- "Pinch me! I went from a size 14 dress to a size 7. I still can't believe it!" — Autumn S., age 37, Systems Analyst
- "I took just two capsules a day... and I was amazed — 7 Pounds in the first week!" — Ron S., Age 63, Electrician.

Made only in USA, Officially Classified as "Prescription Free"

Dr. Weaver (known for his high ethical standards) produces each and every bottle in the United States. And only from pure and certified ingredients. That's how he can proudly guarantee each pill will work up to 97.7% of the time.

But his attention to detail has certainly slowed down production to the point of where it can only be offered on a limited basis.

Limited Availability to the Public

The pills work so well weight loss clinics are scrambling to purchase every single bottle; before the general public gets their hands on it. It's anticipated that all other forms of weight loss management (including gastric bypass) could become obsolete; once this supplement becomes widely available. But for now, it is still in its early marketing stages. And currently available only to people who learn about it here and contact us now.

ONE LAST CASE TO CRACK AS CSI SAYS GOODBYE

Bye, Billy Petersen (Grissom)!

AFTER 15 seasons on CBS, the Las Vegas-based CSI: Crime Scene Investigation unit closes its doors for good this week in an emotional two-hour TV movie.

The Sept. 27 finale reunites original cast members William Petersen (Grissom), Marg Helgenberger (Catherine) and Jorja Fox (Sara) as their characters solve one last forensic mystery.

"I'm running the case, not Billy [Petersen]," previews

Helgenberger, joking, "It may have had to do with Billy saying, 'I'm not going to work very hard...Margy can do it!'"

George Eads (Nick) and Elisabeth Shue (Julie) are two noted absences from the wrap. Eads notoriously clashed with CBS brass over the years – but fans can count on many other favorites popping up, including Eric Szmanda's Greg and Melinda Clarke's Lady Heather.

"I'm so glad we were able to do this, to go and be with the crew and the cast again, to be able to say goodbye," says Petersen.

CSI spawned spin-offs set in New York and Miami. Look for current show star Ted Danson to move his character D.B. Russell to the Internet division, CSI: Cyber.

TV FACT

Oscar-winner Morgan Freeman got his start on daytime. He first worked as a regular cast member on PBS' The Electric Company from 1971 to 1977 and then on soaps Texas, Ryan's Hope and Another World.

BETTY BONES UP

Feisty Betty is sure to rattle the cast of Bones!

FORMER GOLDEN GIRL Betty White is guesting on FOX's Bones playing Dr. Beth Mayer when the crime drama returns for its 11th season next month.

And it's going to be a bloodbath! Her character's decades of experience pit her against the unfailingly competent – and younger – Brennan (Emily Deschanel) when she is called in to assist on a case involving fantasy football – another area of expertise for the aging fox.

White, 93, who just finished a six-season run on Hot in Cleveland, is part of a push to generate new interest in the aging show. News of her appearance comes on the heels of the surprise that Bones will be crossing over with FOX's other crime-solving hit, Sleepy Hollow. Hope no one loses their head!

LIAR, LIAR

SMOLDERING Michael Ealy is an accused wife killer on the upcoming second season of ABC's anthology crime drama, Secrets and Lies.

Juliette Lewis, who portrays calm, cool and collected Detective Andrea Cornell, is the only actor returning from the first season, which co-starred Ryan Phillippe.

Ealy, 42, who recently appeared as the evil Theo on FOX's The Following, will play ambitious Eric Warner. The heir apparent to a hedge firm in North Carolina, Warner recently married "The One" and thought life could not get any better – until he's accused of wife Kate's murder during a party to honor his dad.

Secrets and Lies will return early next year. Honest.

Secrets seeker Juliette is back on the job

CHRISTINA GRINDS ON ROB

The former Married with Children cutie, 43, will guest on the show's fifth episode as Kelly Summers, an old flame of Lowe's actor-turned-legal eagle Dean Sanderson. A born and bred Idaho girl, Kelly will appall Dean when she admits she's never watched his TV show, also called The Grinder.

Emmanuelle Chriqui, of Entourage fame, will drop by to play Dean's on-camera romantic interest who becomes a real-life lover. As Kelly Bundy would say, "The mind wobbles!"

Tough-talking lawman goes on TV to scold bonehead criminals

Lawman Clay Higgins has shot to fame with his Crime Stoppers videos. One has been seen by a whopping 5 million viewers on the Internet

SMOKEY & THE CIGARETTE BANDITS!

TOUGH-TALKING lawman Clay Higgins has skyrocketed to fame for his weekly Crime Stoppers videos where he verbally blisters crooks for their dumb deeds.

In one, Higgins, a captain in Louisiana's Landry Parish Sheriff's Department, is wearing his usual uniform resembling those worn by the cops in Burt Reynolds' hit Smokey and the Bandit flicks.

He scolds thieves who ripped off cigarettes from a store, saying, "If you're one of these idiots, pay attention son, and try to focus and listen to your elder."

"What you fellas are is the Virginia Slim Gang cause you're certainly not Marlboro men."

Higgins' Crime Stoppers videos are normally seen by about 90,000 locals.

But his hard-hitting, face-to-face blasts have shot him to stardom since a video showing him warning a criminal – who robbed a local eatery – appeared on YouTube in July.

"The Sheriff likes Stelly's Restaurant and so do I," says Higgins. "We're going to identify you, arrest you and put you in a small cell."

Folk hero

"After that, I'm going to have a cheeseburger here with fries and a coke and leave a nice tip for the waitress."

"Meanwhile, your next meal will be served through a small hole in a cell door."

This video has been seen by more than 5 million viewers and turned Higgins into a folk hero.

Jimmy Fallon gushed about him on the Tonight Show, saying, "Can that guy run for President?"

Incredibly, since he started his TV appearances, nine people have surrendered to police. Facing several counts of theft, dad-of-two Chance Carroll, 20, turned himself in after Higgins appeared on TV, saying, "Chance, listen to Uncle Clay. Turn yourself in, son."

Also, "We're getting more tips than we ever did," notes the captain. "They frequently lead to arrests."

Ironically, Higgins, who is known as the Cajun John Wayne, says he was hesitant at first about taking the Crime Stoppers gig. He was happy being a patrolman. But now, other departments are pleading with him to do Crime Stoppers segments for them.

Despite his sudden fame, Higgins remains modest, saying, "The thing I'm doing is just my job."

YANKEES STARS CAUGHT IN GAY SCANDAL!

NEW YORK Yankees legend Derek Jeter was caught having gay sex with a teammate, a former equipment manager outrageously claims in a shocking tell-all book!

Fired Yankees employee Paul Priore insists he stumbled on notorious womanizer Jeter and now-married catcher

Jorge Posada (left) and Derek Jeter are accused of getting a little too close off the field

Posada and Jeter in UGLY CONTROVERSY

book, Abused by the New York Yankees, the gay author, who was sacked in 1997, further claims the two All-Stars allowed him to perform oral sex on them in a car outside old Yankee Stadium in a bid to keep him quiet.

"If I said anything about seeing them in the steam room, they would tell people about me being in the car with them," he outrageously writes.

Deadspin.com, which broke news of the book, says simply, "Its claims are literally unbelievable."

Priore also rips into other Yankee greats, claiming Cecil Fielder played while looped on vodka, Darryl Strawberry boozed in the dugout during games, and pitchers Mariano Rivera, Bob Wickman and Jeff Nelson tried to sexually assault him with a bat.

Priore sued the Yankees for $50 million in 1998, saying he was dumped by the team for being HIV-positive – but he lost the lawsuit.

His most recent claims have sparked a firestorm, particularly his tale about Jeter.

Ironically, the 41-year-old bachelor shortstop, who retired in 2014, is also famous for playing the field with a string of beauties, including Mariah Carey, Jessica Alba, Jessica Biel and Minka Kelly.

FLASHBACK

LET'S TWIST!

JUST 19, pop phenom CHUBBY CHECKER gyrates to his monster hit The Twist in 1960, sparking a dance craze that swept across America. Chubby followed up with the hits Let's Twist Again and Peppermint Twist. Born Earnest Evans in Spring Gully, S.C., Chubby says he got his nickname as a teen working at a poultry market. According to one story, the wife of American Bandstand host DICK CLARK suggested he use the moniker Checker, so his name became a "twist" on the name of the famous singer FATS (Chubby) DOMINO (Checker).

What's 500 Million Years Longer Than Forever?

Diamonds may be forever, but Stauer has found a stone that's been around a half a billion years longer.

I once asked a wise old lady to tell me the secret to age and beauty. "Travel to Ratanakiri," she whispered in my ear. "There you'll see that the oldest thing on earth can also be the most beautiful." Intrigued, I took a plane to literally the ends of the earth, took a car to the outskirts of town, then a motor-bike deep into the jungle. Half a day's hike later, I discovered what she meant—the clearest and brightest blue hyacinth stones I'd ever laid eyes on.

Ancient deposits of hyacinth in Australia date back 4.4 billion years. Hyacinth is the oldest known substance on earth and is 500,000,000 years older than diamonds. Hyacinth has been found in rare jewelry pieces going back to the Middle Ages. Today, a gorgeous 4 carat brilliant round cut hyacinth is housed in the Smithsonian National Museum of Natural History. In our opinion, the most beautiful variety of hyacinth are the spectacular blue stones. And, now I know that some of the rarest and most beautiful blue hyacinths are found in Ratanakiri. I'm excited to share them with you in the Blue Hyacinth Pendant—a stunning cluster of 7.50 total carats of blue hyacinth rounds to sparkle and catch the light.

Blue hyacinth is very dense, giving this pendant substantial heft, weighing in at an impressive 7.50 carats. It also packs a wallop on the Moh's scale, measuring the same hardness as an emerald. And, due to hyacinth's double refraction properties, you can see twice as many facets and twice as much fire.

Thanks to some sage advice, we can offer the Blue Hyacinth Pendant for just $79. But, as the rest of the world learns about Ratanakiri's rare hyacinth deposits, the availability of such perfect ancient blue hyacinth is going to drop dramatically. And once it's gone, we'll have to wait another few billion years before we see its equal again. This is a rare opportunity to own one of the oldest gemstones on earth before it becomes history.

Your satisfaction is 100% guaranteed. Experience the unique beauty of the Blue Hyacinth Pendant for 60 days and if you're not completely in love with it, send it back for a full refund of your purchase price. We want your happiness to be true blue.
